

CREATIVE WRITING 2022

May 2022: LOVE

In May the Creative Writing Group met as usual, in the Willowbrook on the Friday after the general meeting.

The subject was 'Love'. Members read what they had written, and we heard about various kinds of love from different types of writing.

The first reading was a poem about love for a mother. Next we heard how a member had met their partner, and how the love was as strong today as ever, after over twenty years. Then we heard about how love had grown and changed over time with a partner, from romance to a situation of caring. The final reading was from a longer story, and covered a parent-child love as well as bisexuality.
